Summertime Potato Company

Summertime Potato Company is a year round potato repacker and supplier based in Carlisle, Iowa. I started with the company in 2005 and purchased it in 2015. Since then, I've continued building the business into a dependable partner for distributors, retailers, and foodservice buyers. We operate under the Summertime Farms label and focus on consistent quality, accurate grading, and reliable service. While we're based in the Midwest, we also ship to customers throughout the East, Southeast, and Southern states. Over the years, we've also grown potatoes as part of our operation.

Since taking ownership, I've worked to strengthen our processes, update our branding, and expand customer relationships. We put a strong emphasis on clean, professional packaging and clear communication so buyers know exactly what to expect. I stay closely involved in daily operations, including production, logistics, and customer engagement.

Today, Summertime Potato Company continues to be part of the Carlisle business community while supporting year round demand for fresh potatoes across a wide area. Our steady growth reflects a commitment to quality, accountability, and long term partnerships.
